25th International Conference on Composites/Nano-Engineering

Celebrating 25th YEAR ANNIVERSARY OF ICCE!

- Special issues in Composites B are planned -

The Goals of the ICCE-25 are:

- (1) TO BRIDGE THE GAP between materials science, mechanics and manufacturing of Composite Materials
- (2) TO ENCOURAGE INTERDISCIPLINARY research
- (3) TO ENCOURAGE LEVERAGING of research resources through joint research between participants.

HOT TOPICS: Oxides and Heterostructures*, Materials Chemistry*, Biophysics*, Bio-medicine, Bio-Nano, Energy-Nano, Energy Storage & Conversion, Carbon Sci.Tech., 3-D printing, Materials under harsh environments, Green materials, Hybrid & Multifunctional Materials, and many others

*co-organised by Team Harmonised Oxides (THO) Japan <http://www.nims.go.jp/nqe/sa/tho/index.html>

TRADITIONAL TOPICS: all areas of materials science, all areas of Mechanics and Physics of Solids & Structures, manufacturing, mathematical modeling, infrastructures composites, oxides, physics, chemistry, biology of composites, computational materials, smart materials & sensors, and many others

SUBMISSION OF TWO-PAGE SHORT PAPER (COMPULSORY: No two-pages means no presentation at ICCE-25)

Interested authors should email IMMEDIATELY the tentative PAPER TITLES and preferred SYMPOSIUM to: Chairman of ICCE-25: Professor David Hui, University of New Orleans <dhui@uno.edu>. Then, A detailed two pages short papers should be emailed immediately, or as soon as possible, but before May 12, 2017. After this date we will gladly continue to receive short papers if there are vacancies, usually OK.

We strongly encourage authors to "expand" their two-page shorts paper to become full-length papers, then to send full length papers to appropriate SCI journals like Composites Part B: Engineering (IF 3.85). If the authors prefer to submit to other journals, they can do this on their own.
